WHICH SIZE SHOULD I USE?

Use this quick guide to choose the best version for your frame or space:

Ratio	Common Sizes	Great For
2:3	4x6", 8x12", 20x30"	Photo frames, hallway prints
3:4	12x16", 18x24"	Kids' rooms, playroom décor
4:5	8x10", 16x20"	Gallery walls, living areas
5:7	5x7", 10x14"	Shelf styling, small spaces
ISO/A ratio	A4, A3	Australia/EU standard frames

Tip: Printing at home? You may prefer A4 or 8x10" as they suit standard paper sizes.

HOW TO PRINT

At Home

- Use high-quality photo paper or heavyweight cardstock
- Set printer to best quality
- Print at “actual size” (100%) — avoid “fit to page” unless needed
- Trim using the border guides (if provided)

At a Local Print Shop or Photo Lab

- Take your JPG files on a USB stick or email them directly to your printing service.
- Let them know the size you’d like printed
- Choose matte or gloss depending on your style

Online Printing Services

- Upload your file to a photo printing site (e.g., Snapfish, Officeworks, Kmart, Shutterfly, Walmart etc.)
- Select your desired size and paper type
- Have it shipped or collect in-store

Tip: If you are using a mat board with your frame, make sure the art size matches the opening, not just the frame.
